

We are delighted to invite you to our upcoming 4th International Online Partnership Workshop, dedicated to a crucial theme that deeply resonates with our churches and the wider community. How can we develop options for action to address hunger, overcome malnutrition, and mitigate environmentally harmful production methods? We aim to foster a common understanding and build networks among stakeholders committed to promoting agroecology and ensuring food security.

The workshop will bring together speakers from different contexts, with a particular focus on Tanzania, to share insights and experiences on this key topic.

Entitled "Give us today our daily bread", the workshop is open to anyone engaged in partnership groups and ecumenical exchange, such as church workers, theologians, lay Christians and all individuals engaged in global issues. It will explore the multifaceted interpretations of this plea, which is at the heart of the Lord's Prayer and is spoken daily across the globe. This prayer holds varied meanings from place to place, person to person, and situation to situation. How can churches, both locally and globally, contribute to the fulfilment of this prayer?
